

1/3
Serial No. 09/404,163
SOM919990015US1 (DMS)

FIG. 1

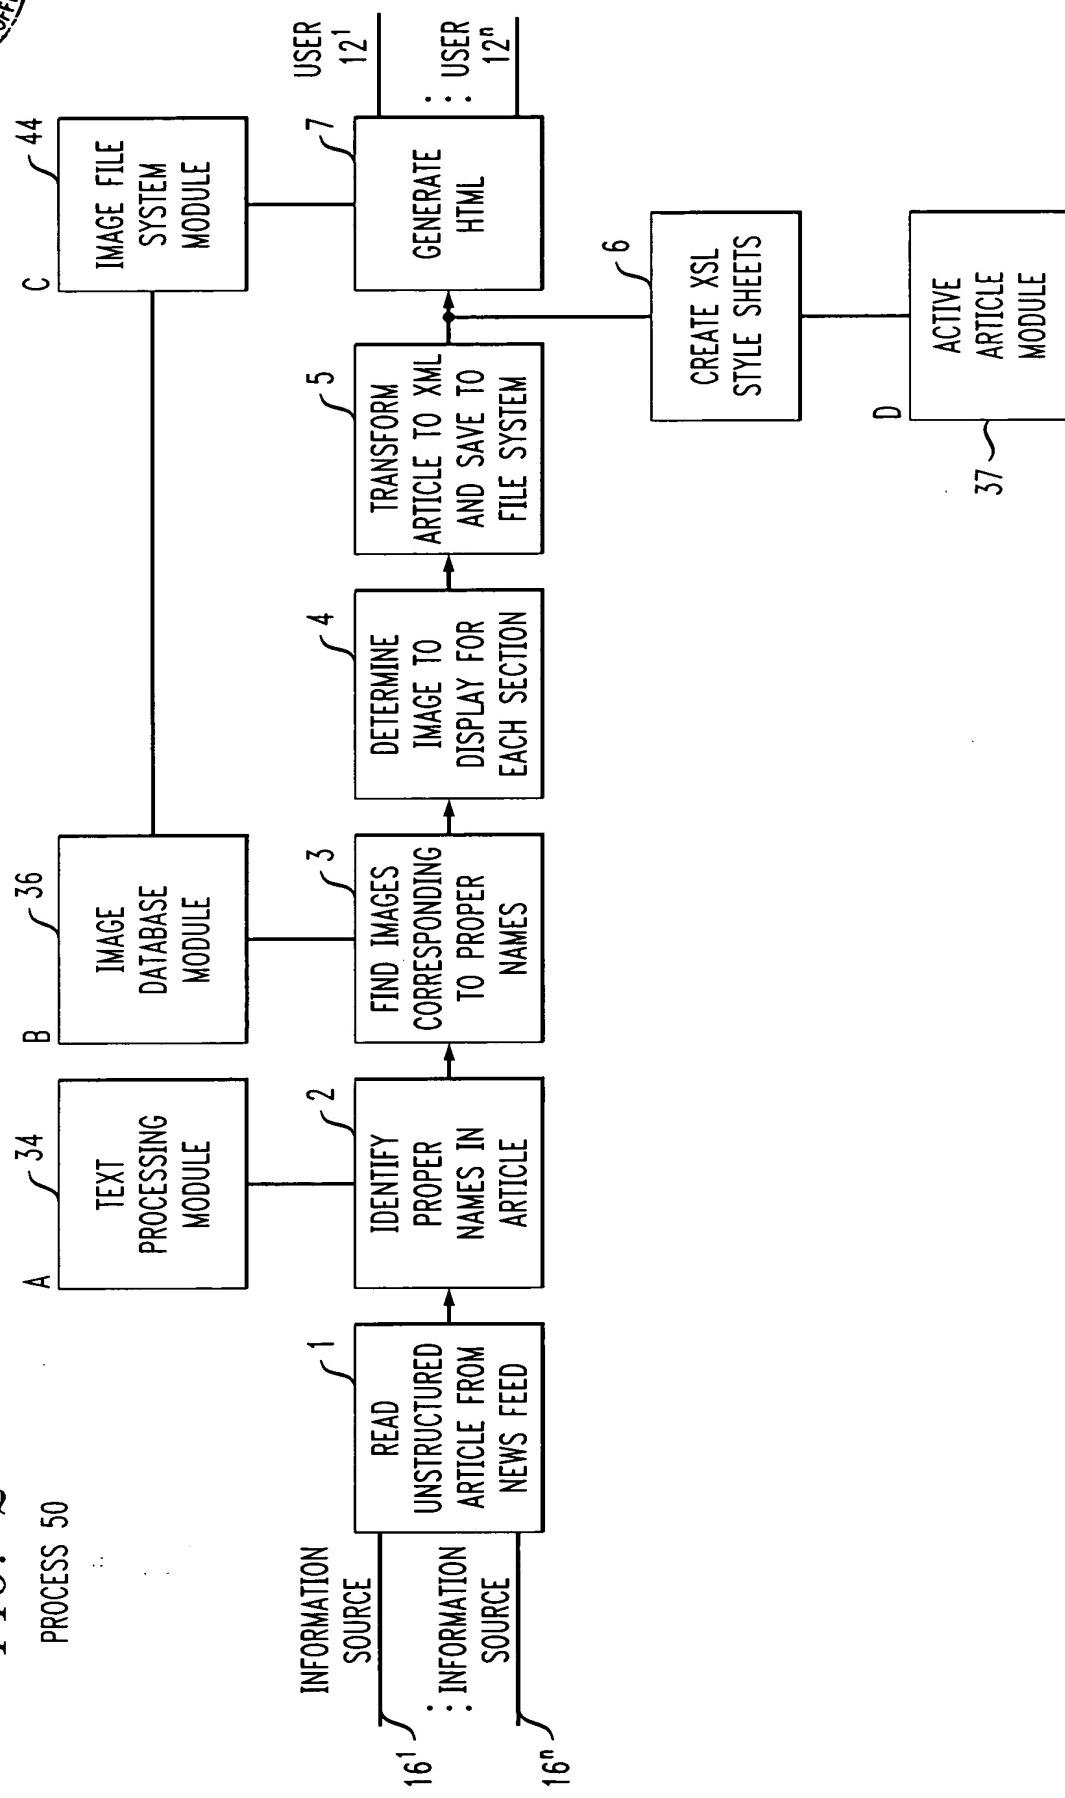

SYSTEM 10

2/3
SOM919990015US1

FIG. 2
PROCESS 50

FIG. 3a

NEWS ROOM

IBM

DB2 Tools Team Takes SWG Team Award

John M. Thompson

Statue of Liberty

DB2 Tools Team Tops Tough Competition, Takes SWG Team Award April 30, 1998

The DB2 Universal Database Tools Team has won the first SWG TeamAward of 1998

The announcement was made today in Santa Teresq by John M. Thompson during his quarterly broadcast to managers. The IBM senior vice president and manager oversees Software Group, and the announcement came from him but what it says is...

FIG. 3b

Chicago Tribune

LIVING NEXT DOOR

To Stefanie Bogdanovska, who is not quite six, the event transpiring across the street from the sidewalk where she Rollerbladed was a mystery.

What happens at Wrigley Field?

"A strange thing," she answered.

She had never been to a baseball game, much more about baseball, but she knew what the baseball park across the street meant. She had seen her mother work in immigrant neighborhood where everyone worked off day and sent all their money back home. Where they worried and talked and thought about somewhere else. That was an American place to live.

"Here, it's a Yippie area," it's true, but it's not like that," she said. "The people are having fun. I don't mind Yippie."

Sofia Bogdanovska, 32, moved to United States from Bulgaria, came to a Yippie bar from Bulgaria. We now let's consider what happens bread, for instance. If we eat bread we'll get fat, no fiber.

Our stomachs can get fat at the start without having to first soap from the outside. As a result, the bread is easily turned into glucose, blood to and causes an equally sharp rise which brings about the dreaded cause.

Rise and fall of blood sugar level, more cravings later on. Eating white bread is like eating sugar. It's like an empty stomach: eating whole grain bread is like eating with your cocktail which brings about the dreaded blood sugar level. Most of the grain not absorbed into the bloodstream from the intestine but excreted.

To Stefanie Bogdanovska, who is not quite six, the event transpiring across the street from the sidewalk where she Rollerbladed was a mystery.

What happens at Wrigley Field?

"A strange thing," she answered.

Her mother, Sofia, did not know much more about baseball, but she knew what the baseball park across the street meant to her: An escape from the immigrant neighborhood where everyone worked all day and sent all their money back home. Where they worried and talked and thought about somewhere else. This was an American place to live.

"Here it's a Yippie area, it's true, but it's more colorful," she said. "The people are having fun. I don't mind Yippie."

Sofia Bogdanovska, 32, moved to United States when she was just